Chat from the Chair…

Firstly, I'd like to welcome Amy back into the position of Nooze Editor. Since passing her degree and successfully getting a job, she has found she has evenings and weekends free to give more of her time to Nooze. If anyone has any stories, mechanical info etc, just send it to Amy. Preferably as a Word Document.

We are all looking forward to meeting up with our friends again, showing off our lock-down projects, our washed and polished cherished vehicles.

Are we or aren't we, that is the question? Well, at present, we are having our first Club Day this year on 18th April providing the government ministers don't change their mind again. As on last years Driving Day, we will have to comply with all the latest regulations.

- No Mask No Entry.
- Masks to be worn when driving.
- Only one person per vehicle unless a family member.
- Don't forget your Hand Gel.
- Gatherings of no more than six persons, unless family members.
- Social distancing of 2 metres.

Please bring all refreshments with you, as nothing will be available on site. Please remember to take all your rubbish home with you.

Our site is large enough to accommodate several groups of six persons. Viewing will only be allowed from the Car Park at present.

All the latest information will be available on our Facebook page and on the Forum, so please keep an eye on both. Hopefully any news will be positive.

I look forward to seeing you all on 18th.

All the Best

Pat.

First in America: Tesla x Range Rover Paves Way for Electric Defenders

East Coast Design's restored and modified Range Rover paves the way; Tesla-powered Land Rover Defenders will follow.

There's nothing quite like the shimmer and sparkle of a freshly custom-painted Defender in the Florida sunshine. OK, obviously that's not something you see every day, but it's true.
From a beautiful classic patina green to the deceptively named Santorini Black, which sparkles a brilliant deep blue when the light hits just right, East Coast Design (ECD) has a veritable Land Rover color museum at its Orlando headquarters.
